

Trustee Biographies

The Trustees of the League Against Cruel Sports are responsible for overseeing the charity's governance, setting its strategic direction, and defining its core objectives. They ensure these goals are effectively implemented, monitor progress, and address any emerging issues.

Trustees contribute their time voluntarily, balancing these responsibilities alongside their professional careers, and often provide pro bono consultancy support to further the League's mission.

Neil Moulding

As a lifelong animal lover and advocate, the well-being and protection of animals has always been important to me. I have actively supported various animal welfare organisations - including the League Against Cruel Sports—through fundraising efforts, rescue missions, or advocacy campaigns; I have consistently worked towards creating a safer and more compassionate world for animals.

I am a Chartered Accountant with over 30 years of business experience across professional services, banking, corporate finance, and operations, latterly in the education sector. Having recently stepped back from a full-time position and returned from London to my native Yorkshire, I am now motivated and able to commit time and effort to causes I have a passion for.

I enjoy spending time in nature with my two canine buddies, particularly roaming the Yorkshire Dales or on a wide sandy beach. I also actively support various underperforming teams in a range of sports.

In 2017, I made a life-changing decision to go vegan - driven by a deep realisation that I no longer wanted to contribute to the suffering of animals in any way. This shift sparked a complete transformation in my life. I stepped away from a successful 18-year career in corporate strategy and management consultancy to start OGGs® - now the UK's No.1 vegan cake brand and pioneers of plant-based eggs. Our mission at OGGs is simple but powerful: to remove the hidden animals from our food system. We're proving that people can enjoy delicious, familiar foods without compromise, and without animals.

Today, my work is entirely focused on making a positive impact - for animals, and for the planet. My background in corporate strategy, leadership, marketing and communications continues to shape how I build purpose-driven businesses that can scale, innovate, and lead change. The weekends are spent with my family, two rescue cats and our dog in the nature; on our bikes, hiking, bird watching.

1. Your Trustees seeking election (cont'd)

Daniel Dickson-Hope

As a lifelong animal lover, I would be delighted to join the League's Board of Trustees and have the opportunity to use my passion for the well-being and protection of animals, and my professional experience to help inspire change, raise awareness and work towards ending cruel sports.

I am a senior HR leader and have spent the majority of my career in the Health and Social Care sector helping lead organisations that care for vulnerable adults and children.

My wife and I live with two rescue cats and when I'm not working, we enjoy spending time with family and also spending time outdoors in nature. My outlook on life is to treat others in a way that I would hope to be treated, and I will work to ensure this extends to helping educate others on creating a safer, more compassionate and caring world for animals.

2. Your Trustee seeking re-election

Astrid Clifford – Interim Chair

I have always loved animals and care deeply about their welfare, and I am a long-standing supporter of many national and international animal charities. I've been lucky enough to care for foxes rescued by the National Fox Welfare Society and Wildlife Aid, and I joined the League as a member in 2004, before joining the Board of Trustees in 2018.

For most of my career, I have worked as an International Manager for the HSBC Group. My last role was as CEO of HSBC Armenia, where I also served as a non-executive director of HSBC Bank Georgia, NASDAQ OMX and two local charities. After 22 years I decided to return to the UK for my young children to start school.

I now work freelance as a banking consultant, which gives me more time to spend with my family and on voluntary work. I live with three dogs, one cat, two rats, two sheep, two pigs, three chickens, 20+ fish and two children in the New Forest. I hate to see any animals (or humans) suffering, especially through deliberate cruelty, and think we all benefit when we learn to treat other creatures compassionately.
