

POLLINATORS AND WILDFLOWERS CROSSWORD

Do you know your tiger lily from your tiger moth? Or your pollinators from your pollens? Put your knowledge to the test with our latest installment in the wonderful wildlife crossword series.

DOWN

1. Frequently mistaken for a bee, but only has one pair of wings. (8)
4. The most abundant butterfly from the big butterfly count 2019. (7,4)
5. A flower with 20 - 80 tubular pink flowers. Poisonous to ingest. (8)
6. Like the bird it is named after, this species of bee lays its eggs in another bumblebee's nest and leaves the workers of that nest to rear the young. (6)
10. Scotland's national flower. (7)
11. What name is given to the pollen-producing reproductive organ of a flower composed of an anther and filament? (6)
13. This flower's bulb can be used to replace onions in many cooking recipes. (5)

ACROSS

2. The national tree of England, representing strength and endurance. (3)
3. A conifer tree with a pleasant scent. (4)
7. Which flower is sometimes called the sword lily?
8. The houses of Lancaster and York went to war over the throne of England. Both had this flower as their insignia. (4)
9. Hedgerow climber with a boozy use. (3)
12. Hummingbird, Elephant and Bee are all types of this insect. (4 - 4)
14. Often accused of strangling trees (3)
15. This flower is a fairy favourite and a sure sign spring is in full swing. (8)
16. Build me up '_____'. Song by The Foundations. (9)